RE: [REDACTED] Application to Register Permanent Residence or Adjust Status (Form I-485)

ORDER

Upon consideration by the District Director, and in accordance with Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations (8 C.F.R.), § 103.5(a)(5)(iv)(3) (2011), the previous decision dated, July 5, 2013, is reconsidered for review.

DISCUSSION

This is in response to a request you filed to reconsider the decision of July 5, 2013. On October 29, 2012, the applicant filed Form I-485, Application to Register Permanent Residence or Adjust Status. On March 22, 2013, the applicant appeared for an interview. On the day of the interview or some time later, the applicant was issued a request to provide evidence to establish eligibility for the benefit being sought. Form I-485 was denied because the applicant failed to establish eligibility under section 245(a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act; the applicant failed to provide a copy of his Canadian passport. The applicant, through counsel argues that the decision was incorrect because he provided his Canadian birth certificate. The decision to deny Form I-485 was correct because the applicant failed to provide all the requested evidence. However, the applicant has since submitted all the requested documents, so USCIS will reopen the case to review the record.

CONCLUSION

This has prompted U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services ("USCIS") to reconsider the decision on your application Form I-485.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED

That after careful review of the evidence, you have overcome the grounds for denial. The previous decision is vacated, USCIS will continue with processing your Form I-485. You will be notified of a decision on your application.
