1-5.2L, Authorization for Parole

Date of Birth (Month/Day/Year) Country of Birth (City or Town) (State or MEXICO U.S. Address (Apt number and/or in care of) (Street Number and Name) (City) TRAVEL AUTHORIZATION: Presentation of the original of this document authorizes a transportation in to the United States without liability under section 273 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) for brid to the United States without liability under section 273 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) for brid to the United States without liability under section 273 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) for brid PAROLE: The named bearer of this authorization is an individual whose removal has been deferred under memorandum authorizing Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA). The named bearer departed the the United States. Presentation of the original of this document prior to May 01, 2016 Inspector at a port-of-entry to parole the named bearer, whose photograph appears on this authorization, into contained in INA 212(d)(5)(A). This authorization is valid for one request for parole during the validity exceed one day from the date of parole at the port-of-entry. Please note: this document does not guarantee the discretion to deny a request for parole. NOTICE - READ BEFORE VOI TRAVEL ABROAD Parole is not admission into the United States, your case will generally continue to be deferred. The deferral will and Customs Enforcement (ICE) in your deferral notice or until the decision for deferrenced action in your not an "admission," so even while you are paroled you will remain an "applicant for admission." If you are a waiver of inadmissibility. If your waiver application is defined, you may be subject to removal proceedings Act. Parole into the United States is not guaranteed. In all cases, you are still subject to immigration and displaced to the United States is not guaranteed. In all cases, you are still subject to immigration applicant for admission would not serve the proceeding and the proceeding and the terms of this documen	A#
U.S. Address (Apt number and/or in care of) (Street Number and Name) (City) TRAVEL AUTHORIZATION: Presentation of the original of this document authorizes a transportation it to the United States without liability under section 273 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) for brid to the United States without liability under section 273 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) for brid to the United States without liability under section 273 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) for brid memorandum authorizing Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA). The named bearer departed the United States. Presentation of the original of this document prior to May 01, 2016 Inspector at a port-of-entry to parole the named bearer, whose photograph appears on this authorization, into contained in INA 212(d)(5)(A). This authorization is valid for one request for parole during the validity exceed one day from the date of parole at the port-of-entry. Please note: this document does not guarantee the discretion to deny a request for parole at the port-of-entry. Please note: this document does not guarantee the discretion to deny a request for parole. NOTICE - READ BEFORE YOU TRAVEL ABROAD Parole is not admission into the United States, your case will generally continue to be deferred. The deferral will and Customs Enforcement (ICE) in your deferral notice or until the decision to defer removal action in your not an "admission," so even while you are paroled you will remain an "applicant for admission." If you are a waiver of inadmissibility. If your waiver application is denied, you may be subject to removal proceedings Act. Parole into the United States is not guaranteed. In all cases, you are still subject to immigration inspeligible to come into the United States via the terms of this document. Even if you have previously been gradiscretion to deny you parole if the Department determines approving your parole application would not serve the part of the part of the United States and seek admission. Itermi	100	January 01, 2016
U.S. Address (Apt number and/or in care of) (Street Number and Name) (City) TRAVEL AUTHORIZATION: Presentation of the original of this document authorizes a transportation it to the United States without liability under section 273 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) for brid to the United States without liability under section 273 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) for brid to the United States without liability under section 273 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) for brid memorandum authorizing Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA). The named bearer departed the United States. Presentation of the original of this document prior to May 01, 2016 Inspector at a port-of-entry to parole the named bearer, whose photograph appears on this authorization, into contained in INA 212(d)(5)(A). This authorization is valid for one request for parole during the validity exceed one day from the date of parole at the port-of-entry. Please note: this document does not guarantee this exceed one day from the date of parole at the port-of-entry. Please note: this document does not guarantee this exceed one day from the date of parole at the port-of-entry. Please note: this document does not guarantee this exceed one day from the date of parole at the port-of-entry. Please note: this document does not guarantee this exceed one day from the United States. Presentation of this authorization will allow a CBP Inspect If CBP paroles you into the United States, your case will generally continue to be deferred. The deferral will and Customs Enforcement (ICE) in your deferral notice or until the decision to defer removal action in your not an "admission," so even while you are paroled you will remain an "applicant for admission." If you are a waiver of inadmissibility. If your waiver application is denied, you may be subject to removal proceedings Act. Parole into the United States via the terms of this document. Even if you have previously been gradiscretion to deny you parole if the Department deter	Province) (C.	ounter)
TRAVEL AUTHORIZATION: Presentation of the original of this document authorizes a transportation lit to the United States without liability under section 273 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) for brid to the United States without liability under section 273 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) for brid to the United States without liability under section 273 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) for brid to the United States. The named bearer of this authorization is an individual whose removal has been deferred under immemorandum authorizing Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA). The named bearer departed the the United States. Presentation of the original of this document prior to May 01, 2016 Inspector at a port-of-entry to parole the named bearer, whose photograph appears on this authorization, into contained in INA 212(d)(5)(A). This authorization is valid for one request for parole during the validity exceed one day from the date of parole at the port-of-entry. Please note: this document does not guarantee the discretion to deny a request for parole. NOTICE - READ BEFORE YOU TRAVEL ABROAD Parole is not admission into the United States. Presentation of this authorization will allow a CBP Inspect If CBP paroles you into the United States, your case will generally continue to be deferred. The deferreal will and Customs Enforcement (ICE) in your deferral notice or until the decision to defer removal action in your not an "admission," so even while you are paroled you will remain an "applicant for admission." If you are a waiver of inadmissiohility. If your waiver application is denied, you may be subject to immigration inspecilishe to come into the United States is not guaranteed. In all cases, you are still subject to immigration in specilishe to come into the United States via the terms of this document. Even if you have previously been gradiscretion to deny you parole if the Department determines approving your parole application would not serve the present of the previou	rtovince) (Ci	ountry)
TRAVEL AUTHORIZATION: Presentation of the original of this document authorizes a transportation in to the United States without liability under section 273 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) for bring the United States without liability under section 273 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) for bring the United States without liability under section 273 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) for bring PAROLE: The named bearer of this authorization is an individual whose removal has been deferred under the United States. Presentation of the original of this document prior to May 01, 2016 Inspector at a port-of-entry to parole the named bearer, whose photograph appears on this authorization, into contained in INA 212(d)(5)(A). This authorization is valid for one request for parole during the validity exceed one day from the date of parole at the port-of-entry. Please note: this document does not guarantee the discretion to deny a request for parole. NOTICE - READ BEFORE YOU TRAVEL ABROAD Parole is not admission into the United States. Presentation of this authorization will allow a CBP Inspect If CBP paroles you into the United States, your case will generally continue to be deferred. The deferral will and Customs Enforcement (ICE) in your deferral notice or until the decision to defer removal action in your not an "admission," so even while you are paroled you will remain an "applicant for admission." If you are a waiver of inadmissibility. If your waiver application is denied, you may be subject to removal proceedings Act. Parole into the United States is not guaranteed. In all cases, you are still subject to immigration inspelligible to come into the United States via the terms of this document. Even if you have previously been gradiscretion to deny you parole if the Department determines approving your parole application would not serve the proceedings of the proceedings o	(State or Province)	(Zip/Postal Cod
PAROLE: The named bearer of this authorization is an individual whose removal has been deferred under memorandum authorizing Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA). The named bearer departed the the United States. Presentation of the original of this document prior to	/_/	(Zip/i osui Cod
the United States. Presentation of the original of this document prior to May 01, 2016 Inspector at a port-of-entry to parole the named bearer, whose photograph appears on this authorization, into contained in INA 212(d)(5)(A). This authorization is valid for one request for parole during the validity exceed one day from the date of parole at the port-of-entry. Please note: this document does not guarantee the discretion to deny a request for parole. NOTICE - READ BEFORE YOU TRAVEL ABROAD Parole is not admission into the United States. Presentation of this authorization will allow a CBP Inspect If CBP paroles you into the United States, your case will generally continue to be deferred. The deferral will and Customs Enforcement (ICE) in your deferral notice or until the decision to defer removal action in your not an "admission," so even while you are paroled you will remain an "applicant for admission." If you are a waiver of inadmissibility. If your waiver application is denied, you may be subject to removal proceedings Act. Parole into the United States is not guaranteed. In all cases, you are still subject to immigration inspelligible to come into the United States via the terms of this document. Even if you have previously been gradiscretion to deny you parole if the Department determines approving your parole application would not serve the proceedings of the previous of the document that permits you to travel to the United States and seek admission. Iterminates your parole, you will return to the status of an unparoled applicant for admission, and you may be subject to removed, departing from the United States without having had your exadministratively closed or terminated will result in your being considered excluded, deported or removed, weven if USCIS or ICE has deferred action in your case. If you have been unlawfully present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you	ne to accept the named bear ging an alien who does not	er on board for travel have a visa.
the United States. Presentation of the original of this document prior to May 01, 2016 Inspector at a port-of-entry to parole the named bearer, whose photograph appears on this authorization, into contained in INA 212(d)(5)(A). This authorization is valid for one request for parole during the validity exceed one day from the date of parole at the port-of-entry. Please note: this document does not guarantee the discretion to deny a request for parole. NOTICE - READ BEFORE YOU TRAVEL ABROAD Parole is not admission into the United States. Presentation of this authorization will allow a CBP Inspect If CBP paroles you into the United States, your case will generally continue to be deferred. The deferral will and Customs Enforcement (ICE) in your deferral notice or until the decision to defer removal action in your not an "admission," so even while you are paroled you will remain an "applicant for admission." If you are a waiver of inadmissibility. If your waiver application is denied, you may be subject to removal proceedings Act. Parole into the United States is not guaranteed. In all cases, you are still subject to immigration inspelligible to come into the United States via the terms of this document. Even if you have previously been gradiscretion to deny you parole if the Department determines approving your parole application would not serve the proceeding of the previous of the Department determines approving your parole application would not serve the proceeding of the proceeding of the proceeding of the proceeding of the Department determines approving your parole application would not serve the proceeding of the proceeding of the Department determines approving your parole application would not serve the proceeding of the proceeding of the Department of the United States and seek admission. It terminates your parole, you will return to the status of an unparoled applicant for admission, and you may be subject to removed applicant for admission, and you may be subject to removed applicant for admission Appe	ne Secretary of Homeland	Security's June 15, 2012, inspector at a port-or-entry to parole the named bearer, whose photograph appears on this authorization, intercontained in INA 212(d)(5)(A). This authorization is valid for one request for parole during the validity exceed one day from the date of parole at the port-of-entry. Please note: this document does not guarantee the discretion to deny a request for parole. NOTICE - READ BEFORE YOU TRAVEL ABROAD Parole is not admission into the United States. Presentation of this authorization will allow a CBP Inspect If CBP paroles you into the United States, your case will generally continue to be deferred. The deferral will and Customs Enforcement (ICE) in your deferral notice or until the decision to defer removal action in your not an "admission," so even while you are paroled you will remain an "applicant for admission." If you are a waiver of inadmissibility. If your waiver application is denied, you may be subject to removal proceedings Act. Parole into the United States is not guaranteed. In all cases, you are still subject to immigration inspelligible to come into the United States via the terms of this document. Even if you have previously been gradiscretion to deny you parole if the Department determines approving your parole application would not serve the proceeding of the proceed	United States temporarily as	nd intends to return to
contained in INA 212(d)(5)(A). This authorization is valid for one request for parole during the validity exceed one day from the date of parole at the port-of-entry. Please note: this document does not guarantee the discretion to deny a request for parole. NOTICE - READ BEFORE YOU TRAVEL ABROAD Parole is not admission into the United States. Presentation of this authorization will allow a CBP Inspect If CBP paroles you into the United States, your case will generally continue to be deferred. The deferral will and Customs Enforcement (ICE) in your deferral notice or until the decision to defer removal action in your not an "admission," so even while you are paroled you will remain an "applicant for admission." If you are a waiver of inadmissibility. If your waiver application is denied, you may be subject to removal proceedings Act. Parole into the United States is not guaranteed. In all cases, you are still subject to immigration inspeligible to come into the United States via the terms of this document. Even if you have previously been gradiscretion to deny you parole if the Department determines approving your parole application would not served. DHS can revoke or terminate your advance parole document at any time. If you are outside the United terminated your advance parole document, the revocation or termination of your advance parole document may you have a valid visa or other document that permits you to travel to the United States and seek admission. It terminates your parole, you will return to the status of an unparoled applicant for admission, and you may be INA section 237. Travel Warnings. Leaving the United States, even with your advance parole document, may impact your ability to return to the status of the United States without having had your exacministratively closed or terminated will result in your being considered excluded, deported or removed, we even if USCIS or ICE has deferred action in your case. If you have been unlawfully present in the United States for certain periods may beco	allows a Customs and Bo	order Protection (CBP) exceed one day from the date of parole at the port-of-entry. Please note: this document does not guarantee if discretion to deny a request for parole. NOTICE - READ BEFORE YOU TRAVEL ABROAD Parole is not admission into the United States. Presentation of this authorization will allow a CBP Inspect of CBP paroles you into the United States, your case will generally continue to be deferred. The deferral will and Customs Enforcement (ICE) in your deferral notice or until the decision to defer removal action in your not an "admission," so even while you are paroled you will remain an "applicant for admission." If you are a waiver of inadmissibility. If your waiver application is denied, you may be subject to removal proceedings Act. Parole into the United States is not guaranteed. In all cases, you are still subject to immigration inspeligible to come into the United States via the terms of this document. Even if you have previously been gradiscretion to deny you parole if the Department determines approving your parole application would not serve DHS can revoke or terminate your advance parole document at any time. If you are outside the United terminated your advance parole document, the revocation or termination of your advance parole document mayou have a valid visa or other document that permits you to travel to the United States and seek admission. Iterminates your parole, you will return to the status of an unparoled applicant for admission, and you may be INA section 237. Travel Warnings. Leaving the United States, even with your advance parole document, may impact your ability to return to the iff you have been ordered deported or removed, departing from the United States without having had your exaction and the United States without having had your exaction in your case. If you have been unlawfully present in the United States representative at an immigrant assistance organization accredited by the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA inadmissibility and therefore ineligible for adjustment of status. Unde	period noted above. Fac-	h parole period shall not
NOTICE - READ BEFORE YOU TRAVEL ABROAD Parole is not admission into the United States. Presentation of this authorization will allow a CBP Inspect of CBP paroles you into the United States, your case will generally continue to be deferred. The deferral will and Customs Enforcement (ICE) in your deferral notice or until the decision to defer removal action in your not an "admission," so even while you are paroled you will remain an "applicant for admission." If you are a waiver of inadmissibility. If your waiver application is denied, you may be subject to removal proceedings Act. Parole into the United States is not guaranteed. In all cases, you are still subject to immigration inspeligible to come into the United States via the terms of this document. Even if you have previously been gradiscretion to deny you parole if the Department determines approving your parole application would not serve DHS can revoke or terminate your advance parole document, the revocation or termination of your advance parole document in you have a valid visa or other document, the revocation or termination of your advance parole document may you have a valid visa or other document that permits you to travel to the United States and seek admission. Iterminates your parole, you will return to the status of an unparoled applicant for admission, and you may be INA section 237. Travel Warnings. Leaving the United States, even with your advance parole document, may impact your ability to return to the United States without having had your exadministratively closed or terminated will result in your being considered excluded, deported or removed, we even if USCIS or ICE has deferred action in your case. If you have been unlawfully present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmissible and therefore ineligible for adjustment of status. Under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i) of the Act, alier present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of	at a person will be paroled	into the United States. CBP Parole is not admission into the United States. Presentation of this authorization will allow a CBP Inspect of CBP paroles you into the United States, your case will generally continue to be deferred. The deferral will and Customs Enforcement (ICE) in your deferral notice or until the decision to defer removal action in your not an "admission," so even while you are paroled you will remain an "applicant for admission." If you are a waiver of inadmissibility. If your waiver application is denied, you may be subject to removal proceedings Act. Parole into the United States is not guaranteed. In all cases, you are still subject to immigration inspecified to come into the United States via the terms of this document. Even if you have previously been gradiscretion to deny you parole if the Department determines approving your parole application would not served terminated your advance parole document at any time. If you are outside the United terminated your advance parole document, the revocation or termination of your advance parole document in you have a valid visa or other document that permits you to travel to the United States and seek admission. It terminates your parole, you will return to the status of an unparoled applicant for admission, and you may be INA section 237. Travel Warnings. Leaving the United States, even with your advance parole document, may impact your ability to return to the administratively closed or terminated will result in your being considered excluded, deported or removed, we even if USCIS or ICE has deferred action in your case. If you have been unlawfully present in the United States presentative at an immigrant assistance organization accredited by the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA inadmissible and therefore ineligible for adjustment of status. Under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i) of the Act, alter present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you and Customs Enforcement (ICE) in your deferral notice or until the decision to defer removal action in your and an "admission," so even while you are paroled you will remain an "applicant for admission." If you are a waiver of inadmissibility. If your waiver application is denied, you may be subject to removal proceedings act. Parole into the United States is not guaranteed. In all cases, you are still subject to immigration inspeligible to come into the United States via the terms of this document. Even if you have previously been gradiscretion to deny you parole if the Department determines approving your parole application would not serve the proceeding of the United States without parole document at any time. If you are outside the United DHS can revoke or terminate your advance parole document at any time. If you are outside the United States and seek admission. It is the proceeding of the United States and seek admission. It is the proceeding of the United States are seen with your advance parole document, may impact your ability to return to the IT you have been ordered deported or removed, departing from the United States without having had your expected by the Board of the proceeding of the United States of the United States and immigrant assistance organization accredited by the Board of immigration Appeals (BIA inadmissible and therefore ineligible for adjustment of status. Under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i) of the Act, alter present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an immigrant and the proceedings of the proceeding the United States in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmissibility in general.	or at a port of anti- to	le you into the I leted Co.
and Customs Enforcement (ICE) in your deterral notice or until the decision to defer removal action in your tot an "admission," so even while you are paroled you will remain an "applicant for admission." If you are a waiver of inadmissibility. If your waiver application is denied, you may be subject to removal proceedings act. Parole into the United States is not guaranteed. In all cases, you are still subject to immigration inspectigible to come into the United States via the terms of this document. Even if you have previously been gradiscretion to deny you parole if the Department determines approving your parole application would not serve the content of the proceeding of the Department determines approving your parole application would not serve the content of the Department determines approving your parole application would not serve the content of the Department of the Department at any time. If you are outside the United States and seek admission, you have a valid visa or other document, the revocation or termination of your advance parole document in your advance parole, you will return to the status of an unparoled applicant for admission, and you may be NA section 237. Travel Warnings. Leaving the United States, even with your advance parole document, may impact your ability to return to the doministratively closed or terminated will result in your being considered excluded, deported or removed, we even if USCIS or ICE has deferred action in your case. If you have been unlawfully present in the United States presentative at an immigrant assistance organization accredited by the Board of immigration Appeals (BIA nadmissible and therefore ineligible for adjustment of status. Under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i) of the Act, alier present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmiss madmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an immigrant admissibility in general.	continue until the date spec	rified by USCIS or Immigration not an "admission," so even while you are paroled you will remain an "applicant for admission." If you are a waiver of inadmissibility. If your waiver application is denied, you may be subject to removal proceedings at waiver of inadmissibility. If your waiver application is denied, you may be subject to immigration inspecting into the United States is not guaranteed. In all cases, you are still subject to immigration inspecting into the United States via the terms of this document. Even if you have previously been gradiscretion to deny you parole if the Department determines approving your parole application would not served. OHS can revoke or terminate your advance parole document at any time. If you are outside the United erminated your advance parole document, the revocation or termination of your advance parole document myou have a valid visa or other document that permits you to travel to the United States and seek admission. It is erminates your parole, you will return to the status of an unparoled applicant for admission, and you may be leaving the United States, even with your advance parole document, may impact your ability to return to the administratively closed or terminated will result in your being considered excluded, deported or removed, with the United States without having had your extensify the United States without having had your extensify the United States without having had your extensified by the Board of immigration Appeals (BIA nadmissible and therefore ineligible for adjustment of status. Under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i) of the Act, alier present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an immigrant assistance organization accredited by the Board of inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an immigrant admissibility in general.	ase has been terminated w	whichever is earlier Parole i
Act. Parole into the United States is not guaranteed. In all cases, you are still subject to immigration inspectibility to come into the United States via the terms of this document. Even if you have previously been gradiscretion to deny you parole if the Department determines approving your parole application would not served. OHS can revoke or terminate your advance parole document at any time. If you are outside the United erminated your advance parole document, the revocation or termination of your advance parole document in you have a valid visa or other document that permits you to travel to the United States and seek admission. It erminates your parole, you will return to the status of an unparoled applicant for admission, and you may be NA section 237. Travel Warnings. Leaving the United States, even with your advance parole document, may impact your ability to return to the flyou have been ordered deported or removed, departing from the United States without having had your exadministratively closed or terminated will result in your being considered excluded, deported or removed, without have been unlawfully present in the United States presentative at an immigrant assistance organization accredited by the Board of immigration Appeals (BIA nadmissible and therefore ineligible for adjustment of status. Under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i) of the Act, alier present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an immigrant madmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an immigrant madmissibility in general.	ound inadmissible you wil	I need to apply and qualify DHS can revoke or terminate your advance parole document at any time. If you are outside the United terminated your advance parole document at any time. If you are outside the United terminated your advance parole document at any time. If you are outside the United terminated your advance parole document that permits you to travel to the United States and seek admission. It is a valid visa or other document that permits you to travel to the United States and seek admission. It is a valid visa or other document to the status of an unparoled applicant for admission, and you may be NA section 237. Travel Warnings. Leaving the United States, even with your advance parole document, may impact your ability to return to the flyou have been ordered deported or removed, departing from the United States without having had your expension of USCIS or ICE has deferred action in your case. If you have been unlawfully present in the United States presentative at an immigrant assistance organization accredited by the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA nadmissible and therefore ineligible for adjustment of status. Under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i) of the Act, alter present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmiss madmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an immigrant madmissibility in general.	as an inadmissible alien un	der 235(b)(1) or 240 of the
OHS can revoke or terminate your advance parole document at any time. If you are outside the United terminated your advance parole document, the revocation or termination of your advance parole document in you have a valid visa or other document that permits you to travel to the United States and seek admission. It is a valid visa or other document that permits you to travel to the United States and seek admission. It is a valid visa or other document that permits you to travel to the United States and seek admission. It is a valid visa or other document that permits you to travel to the United States and seek admission. It is a valid visa or other document that permits you to travel to the United States without having that you may be NA section 237. Travel Warnings. Leaving the United States, even with your advance parole document, may impact your ability to return to the figure of the United States without having had your expension of the United States without having had your expension of USCIS or ICE has deferred action in your case. If you have been unlawfully present in the United States peresentative at an immigrant assistance organization accredited by the Board of immigration Appeals (BIA nadmissible and therefore ineligible for adjustment of status. Under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i) of the Act, alter present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an immigrant admissibility in general.	ection at a port-of-entry to	determine whether you are
OHS can revoke or terminate your advance parole document at any time. If you are outside the United erninated your advance parole document, the revocation or termination of your advance parole document mou have a valid visa or other document that permits you to travel to the United States and seek admission. It erminates your parole, you will return to the status of an unparoled applicant for admission, and you may be NA section 237. Travel Warnings. Leaving the United States, even with your advance parole document, may impact your ability to return to the flyou have been ordered deported or removed, departing from the United States without having had your extension in your being considered excluded, deported or removed, where if USCIS or ICE has deferred action in your case. If you have been unlawfully present in the United States representative at an immigrant assistance organization accredited by the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA nadmissible and therefore ineligible for adjustment of status. Under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i) of the Act, alier present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an immigrant madmissibility in general.	ited parole, the Department	of Homeland Security reta eminated your advance parole document, the revocation or termination of your advance parole document in you have a valid visa or other document that permits you to travel to the United States and seek admission. It is not parole, you will return to the status of an unparoled applicant for admission, and you may be NA section 237. Travel Warnings. Leaving the United States, even with your advance parole document, may impact your ability to return to the flyou have been ordered deported or removed, departing from the United States without having had your extendiministratively closed or terminated will result in your being considered excluded, deported or removed, where if USCIS or ICE has deferred action in your case. If you have been unlawfully present in the United States presentative at an immigrant assistance organization accredited by the Board of immigration Appeals (BIA madmissible and therefore ineligible for adjustment of status. Under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i) of the Act, alier present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an immadmissibility in general.	c die public interess of the	Officer States.
Fravel Warnings. Leaving the United States, even with your advance parole document, may impact your ability to return to the f you have been ordered deported or removed, departing from the United States without having had your exaministratively closed or terminated will result in your being considered excluded, deported or removed, without if USCIS or ICE has deferred action in your case. If you have been unlawfully present in the United States representative at an immigrant assistance organization accredited by the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA nadmissible and therefore ineligible for adjustment of status. Under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i) of the Act, alier present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an immigrand madmissibility in general.	ay leave you unable to return from are in the United State	m to the United States unle
Leaving the United States, even with your advance parole document, may impact your ability to return to the figure have been ordered deported or removed, departing from the United States without having had your exaministratively closed or terminated will result in your being considered excluded, deported or removed, we even if USCIS or ICE has deferred action in your case. If you have been unlawfully present in the United States presentative at an immigrant assistance organization accredited by the Board of immigration Appeals (BIA nadmissible and therefore ineligible for adjustment of status. Under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i) of the Act, alier present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an immigration and the contact an immigration of the contact an immigration of the contact an immigration in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an immigration accredited by the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) and the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmissibility in general.	subject to removal under in	NA section 212, rather than
Leaving the United States, even with your advance parole document, may impact your ability to return to the If you have been ordered deported or removed, departing from the United States without having had your exadministratively closed or terminated will result in your being considered excluded, deported or removed, wieven if USCIS or ICE has deferred action in your case. If you have been unlawfully present in the United States representative at an immigrant assistance organization accredited by the Board of immigration Appeals (BIA inadmissible and therefore ineligible for adjustment of status. Under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i) of the Act, alier present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an imm	HHHHHHHHHH	111111111111
If you have been ordered deported or removed, departing from the United States without having had your exadministratively closed or terminated will result in your being considered excluded, deported or removed, we even if USCIS or ICE has deferred action in your case. If you have been unlawfully present in the United States representative at an immigrant assistance organization accredited by the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA inadmissible and therefore ineligible for adjustment of status. Under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i) of the Act, alier present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an imm	United States administratively closed or terminated will result in your being considered excluded, deported or removed, we seen if USCIS or ICE has deferred action in your case. If you have been unlawfully present in the United Streepresentative at an immigrant assistance organization accredited by the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA nadmissible and therefore ineligible for adjustment of status. Under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i) of the Act, alier present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an imm	アンカス だけけ おすけ administratively closed or terminated will result in your being considered excluded, deported or removed, we even if USCIS or ICE has deferred action in your case. If you have been unlawfully present in the United State representative at an immigrant assistance organization accredited by the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA inadmissible and therefore ineligible for adjustment of status. Under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i) of the Act, alier present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmiss Inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an imm	lusion, deportation, or rem	oval proceedings reopened representative at an immigrant assistance organization accredited by the Board of limmigration Appeals (BIA inadmissible and therefore ineligible for adjustment of status. Under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i) of the Act, alier present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an imm	h potentially serious future	immigration consequences inadmissible and therefore ineligible for adjustment of status. Under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i) of the Act, alier present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an important and interest and i	tes, you may want to ask ar	immigration attorney or a present in the United States for certain periods may become subject to new or additional grounds of inadmiss inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an imm	s who depart the United Sta	ates after being unlawfully
Inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an imp	ibility because of their trave	el abroad.
Inadmissibility in general. If you have concerns about admissibility and waivers you should contact an impaccredited by the BIA before making foreign travel plans.
Mul House	igration attorney or an imn	nigrant assistance organizat
Mal Houle
Mal Houh
Mal Hout	Nebraska Service Co	enter
Mal Howh	850 S. Street
I WI TOUTH	Lincoln, NE 6850	08
	(Authorizing O
Mark Hazuda	Parola Sta	mn
	OEVARTMENT OF HOM PAROL	ELAND SEC.
	S PAROL	ED
		21 2011
	NA L	1 (0/6)